Organisational skills and competences

Ten years of teaching psychology disciplines at the academic and post academic levels have afforded me to develop both social abilities, meaning communication competencies that are appropriate to various settings (such as education, training, research, consultancy, etc.), and developing some assessment methodologies for the individual and organizational communication style and efficiency.

Technical skills and competences

The assumed responsibilities in 27 carried projects (in 7 projects I acted as a grant director; three were obtained in an international competition) could be the evidence of my organizational competencies and aptitudes. At present I manage a research team constituted of young teaching personnel and students. During the last 3 years, our team members have presented 14 papers at national conferences, have published 5 studies, and organized three summer schools on professional topics (2007 – lași; 2008 – Durău, 2009 – lași, 2011 – Vatra Dornei etc.).
